| 1.1 Works Required Ensure that all letting rooms, the kitchen and the doors housing the boiler, electric and gas meters are fitted with fire doors immediately. The cupboards housing the meters should be clear of storage and locked. They should meet the specifications below: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> o Fitted with heat (intumescent) and cold smoke seals (FD 30S) the gap should not exceed that stated by the seal manufacturer, usually 3 to 4 mm maximum. Both seals should be fitted along both vertical and top edges of the door. o Intumescent strips and flexible cold smoke seals should be recessed into the hinge side, top and closing edges of door or door frame, in accordance with manufacturer's instructions. | | | |

- o Seals can be fitted in the frame and if so they should align with the centre of the door leaf. Manufacturers' instructions should be adhered to when fitting seals.
 - o Smoke seals MUST NOT be painted over as this reduces their flexibility and effectiveness.
 - o Seals are not required to be fitted across the bottom of doors, but the threshold gap should not exceed 8mm.
 - o Voids around the locking mechanism must be kept to a minimum and filled with intumescent paste or be encapsulated with a proprietary intumescent product.
 - o All doors required for means of escape must be capable of being opened from the inside without the use of a key. (i.e Yale type or thumb turn locks)
 - o The door stop of the frame should not be cut away to facilitate any lock or latch.
 - o The door must be fitted with a self-closing device capable of closing the door into the frame from any angle. Hydraulic overhead closers conforming to current British Standard 476 Part 22 (or equivalent), current British Standard 6459 (or equivalent) and current British Standard 8214 (or equivalent) are preferable as they are more efficient and reliable.
 - The loft hatch must be fire boarded to provide 30 minutes protected means of escape.
- The loft hatch to comprise of a solid core 30 minute fire door blank cut down to appropriate size, with hardwood lippings glued and screwed to each leaf edge. 10mm intumescent and smoke seals must be provided, fitted and pinned into rebates on each leaf edge of the loft hatch door or alternatively into the loft hatch frame.
- The stairs in the hallway must be fire boarded to provide 30 minutes protected means of escape.

- Ensure the carbon monoxide reader is positioned within 3 meters of the boiler, but not lodged behind a hot pipe.
- Room 2 should be decluttered to allow freedom of movement around the room.
- Fit turn thumb lock to the conservatory door.

2.0 Hazard – Electrical Hazards (23)

There should be no electrical hazards in a property that has the potential to cause a fire.

The wall socket in the kitchen, nearest to the door into the hallway, was faulty. I could not insert a plug fully into the socket. This could cause the electric to short circuit and cause damage or fire.

All letting rooms and conservatory should have six sockets or three double sockets. Extension cables were being used. Too few sockets will encourage the use of extension cables and overloading of sockets. This will overload the electrical system and cause a fire. This was evident in all rooms.

In room 1 the ceiling light fitting was in poor condition with odd bulbs fitted. This could cause a fire.

Electrical sockets to room 3 were loose. These could short circuit the electrical system and cause a fire.

2.1 Works Required

- The wall plug socket in the kitchen should be inspected by a qualified electrician and repaired or replaced.
- 6 sockets to be fitted to each letting rooms and the conservatory by a qualified electrician.

- The light fitting in room 1 should be inspected by a qualified electrician and replaced if required and bulbs inserted.

- Electrical sockets to room 3 to be inspected and repaired/replaced by a qualified electrician.

An Independent qualified electrician should provide a periodic electrical inspection report to the Council.

Any works required are to be completed by a 'competent person registered with an electrical self-certification scheme authorized by the Secretary of State'. As defined within the current building regulation regulations. (Such installers may be registered as competent by N.I.C.E.I.C, ELECSA, BRE, NAPIT or British Standards institution schemes).

3.0 Structural Collapse & Falling Elements (29)

There should be no hazards either internally or externally of an element of the property, part of the fabric of the property, or the whole property collapsing. No part of the fabric of the building should fail because of inadequate fixing or disrepair, or as a result of adverse weather conditions.

The curtain pole to room 1 was loose. This could fall and cause injury.

3.1 Works Required

- Secure the curtain pole to ensure it is fixed to the wall.

4.0 Hazard – Excess Cold (2)

Room temperatures should conform to the BS5449 standard; that is 21°C in the Living room, 18 °C elsewhere and 22 °C in the bathroom with an outside temperature of –1 °C. The heating should be fixed, controllable and permanent in all rooms of the property.

There was no thermostat to the radiator in room 1 making the heating to this room not be controlled by the tenant.

The inner hallway to the rear adjacent to room 2 and conservatory did not have a thermostat to the radiator. No controllable heating for the tenant.

There was no heating to the first floor bathroom. No controllable heating for the tenants.

There was no fixed heating to the conservatory. No controllable heating for the tenants.

4.1 Works Required

- Thermostat to be fitted to the radiator in room 1.
- Thermostat to be fitted to the radiator to the inner hallway.
- Permanent, controllable heating capable of meeting BS54994 standards should be installed to the first floor bathroom.
- Permanent, controllable heating capable of meeting BS54994 standards should be installed in the conservatory.

5.0 Hazard – Domestic Hygiene, Pests & Refuse (15)

The layout and construction of premises should be such that it can be kept in a clean and hygienic state.

There was domestic rubbish stored in room 1. This could be a food source for vermin and insects such as cockroaches that carry disease.

The brick shed in the rear garden was full of rubbish. The wood shed was full of rubbish. The rear garden had rubbish including a sofa. The storage of waste could provide harborage and a food source for vermin which carry disease.

There were two mattresses in the garage forecourt, owned by Dacorum Borough Council, to the back of the rear garden. This is fly tipping.

5.1 Works Required

- Domestic rubbish should not be stored in the letting rooms. This is to be removed. Tenants should be informed that this not acceptable.
- The sheds should be emptied of all rubbish and this should be disposed of in the correct manner.
- The mattresses should be removed. If they are not items placed by you or the tenants then this should be reported to Dacorum Borough Council as fly tipping.

6.0 Hazard - Damp and Mould Growth (1)

The structure and finish of a dwelling should be maintained free from rising, penetrating and traumatic dampness.

The window handle to the first floor bathroom was loose. Ventilation in the bathroom is essential. There was evidence of black mould in the shower cubicle that could be caused by the lack of ventilation.

The first floor WC window was locked. This could encourage damp and mould to gather. Ventilation is required.

The window handles were loose to room 1. This could hinder the windows being opened and closed correctly and the room being ventilated. There was evidence of mould to the window frames and seals.

The window handle to room 3 was loose. This could hinder the window being opened and closed correct and ventilation of the room being hindered. This could lead to damp and mould in the room.

The windows to rooms 1 and 4 were blown. This could allow penetration of damp into the room.

The window handles to room 4 was loose and one window did not open. There was evidence of mould on the windows and frames. The lack of ventilation could be the cause of the mould on the windows and frames.

The window handle to room 5 was loose and there was evidence of mould on the windows. The lack of ventilation to the room could be the cause of mould on the windows.

6.1 Works Required

- The bathroom window handle must be repaired/replaced and be in good working order.
- The mould is to be removed from all rooms with a suitable detergent.
- The window to the WC must be unlocked and in good working order.
- The window handles to rooms 1, 3, 4 and 5 to be repaired to enable it to opened and closed easily to enable ventilation and deter the build up of mould.
- The glazing to rooms 1 and 4 should be replaced or repaired.

6.2 Works Recommended

- New windows and doors to be installed to the property. The windows are not of good quality and in a poor state of repair.

7.0 Hazard – Entry by Intruders (12)

All properties in the private rented sector should be protected from unauthorised entry.
